

PORT HOUSTON™

Port Houston Media Guide

The Houston Ship Channel complex is a 52-mile federal waterway with more than 200 private and eight public terminals. Port Houston owns and operates the eight public facilities along the channel, including the area's largest breakbulk facility and two of the most efficient container terminals in the nation.

Media inquiries – We welcome the opportunity to tell the story of the Houston Ship Channel and Port Houston. Media Relations is pleased to help facilitate interview requests and other media inquiries. For more contact information and other resources, including press releases, a photo gallery, a b-roll library, and brand media guidelines, please visit <https://porthouston.com/news-media-press/media-overview/>.

In the event of an emergency or major weather event affecting the Port

Port Houston's Corporate Communications team provides updates and information, utilizing various communication sources, including but not limited to primary social media platforms such as Facebook, X, news releases, and real-time updates on the home page at www.porthouston.com.

See also Port Houston's Hurricane protocols here: <https://porthouston.com/infrastructure/safety-security/hurricane-procedures/>

If you need further information or media assistance, in the event of an emergency or weather event, or after-hours, holidays, please email: mediarelations@porthouston.com.

The U.S. Coast Guard "Captain of the Port" engages in the Opening and Closing of the Houston Ship Channel

The U.S. Coast Guard, along with the Houston Pilots, manages ship vessel traffic movement and the opening and closing of the channel.

Contact:

U.S. Coast Guard Duty Team
sechoustongalveston@gmail.com
832- 207-3563

The Houston Ship Channel complex is a 52-mile federal waterway with more than 200 private and eight public terminals. Port Houston owns and operates the eight public facilities along the channel, including the area's largest breakbulk facility and two of the most efficient container terminals in the nation.

Stay in Touch

Please submit your name, title, organization, email address, and telephone number to be advised of newsworthy events to mediarelations@porthouston.com